

Dear Readers,

Are you a happy person?

In life we often encounter happiness and sadness. A moment of smile, a moment of tears which is an obvious fact. Do you take note of what makes you happy?

Every day we meet different people, may be your friends or may be your foes. It can determine how your day goes about. Happiness may be an abstract thought for a desolate man and a bread of life for cheerful man, does “Happiness depends upon ourselves” –Aristotle. How a person tends to live their life may denote how happy a person is. In life, happiness comes in different forms, embrace the little moment and make it count. “Happiness is when what you think, what you say and what you do are in harmony” –Mahatma Gandhi.

My thought on ‘Happiness’ is despite all the hardship in life, worrying too much only makes it worse. Let go off your trouble and sorrow, instill the notion of loving your surroundings that may keep you happy. Be the reason for someone else happiness.

A simple concept but often ignored.
