

A New Beginning

Every morning brings a new day, a new day brings new hope and so is life filled with many possibilities. We prepare ourselves everyday to cope with the world and every day we get new challenges in our life. We should not remain who we were yesterday rather we should change ourselves daily by learning of what yesterday has taught us.

Like the rain sprouts out the seeds and buds prepare to bloom, we should be ready for a new beginning leaving all the bitterness which yesterday has brought us.

Believe in yourself that is the first step to achieve any goal. "Whatever we believe about ourselves and our ability comes true for us." – Susan L. Taylor.

Put a little faith in yourself and you will start to see the brighter side of your life.

Let's start a new beginning and leave the old rusty us, for we never know what tomorrow holds- why don't we make it a better today!
